It Simmers Mildly
First Bandits, Then Bombs
Only 48 Cents Left
Radicalism in Mexico

By Arthur Brisbane

THE POLITICAL POT, not exactly boiling, remains a slug of a slough. But, as November draws near, the speed increases a little.

On Tuesday Governor Roosevelt and former Gov. Alfred E. Smith shook hands. Much applause, regardless of the fact that they were no closer they could not help it. The judicial will content themselves with hoping that neither, as they both hands, muffled to himself. Bolly Worthen was known words: "For what I am wishing now, I could be put in prison."

On Tuesday, President Hoover made a speech, which, according to Cyrus M. K. Curtis, chief editor, was to leave the Middle West from the radicals. A radical, presumably, is a farmer not content to get 23 cents a bushel for wheat or nine cents a dozen for eggs.

Wall Street must have expected the President to give hundreds of solid gold rabbits out of his hat. Yesterday after the speech was read, stocks dropped sharply on the "Big Exchange," the "Curb Exchange" and in the bond lists.

Unhappy citizens of Szechow, China, know that modern war is complicated. Ten thousand Chinese Reds look upon their city, an important trading center, working and looting. That was bad enough.

Then Hankow, 60 miles away, sent a squadron of airplanes to bomb Szechow. "Red bandits," killing more citizens than the bombs. That was worse than the bandits.

It takes little imagination to realize the part that population will play in war, when you read statistics of city population. Seven cities contain more than 35,000,000 inhabitants.

What marvelous targets for air pilots with gas bombs and explosive bombs are offered by London, New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Chicago, Paris and Moscow!

A man, only 47 years old, once prominent in industry, is found dead in Chicago with a bullet in his head. A farewell note said that he was "another victim of the depression."

He left one of six letters, laid out on his dresser with 44 remaining cents in his pocket, addressed to "Authorities, corner, or what have you."

A thousand men have succeeded beginning with 48 cents and less. That is more than John D. Rockefeller had when he started. Some feel that they have only a million or two remaining. It depends on the point of view and the COURAGE.

In Mexico, while Mr. Leopoldo Ruiz Flores, the Pope's legate, is expelled from the country by airplane, as a "persecution foreigner," interesting radical propositions are made.

One suggests the seizure of all churches and church property, the building of a new university, the closing of all night clubs and schools. The state of Yucatan is a candidate for the Mexican people, wants all foreign capital sent out of Mexico, and "proletarianization" of culture "to raise the cultural level of the masses."

Many of the Mexican Indian masses will not know that means, and many wishes will not know.

In reply to the Papal Delegation's expulsion, the Vatican's payment of the Vatican says the Pope's encyclical, on which the expulsion is based, was merely a pretext. The theory of the Vatican is that "certain elements among the Catholics in Mexico, who wish to oppose force with force," may get out of control of ecclesiastical authorities, as a result of the archbishop's expulsion, and that trouble will follow.

A gentleman of the Texas "bandits," whom you imagine with high boots, a big mustache and a fierce eye, writes: "I see you people in New York are nominated for President by the Republican ticket a Catholic and on the Democratic ticket a Jewish citizen. What is the matter with your Protestants, have you got some fit to nominate?"

The answer is that now in New York, as in France under Napoleon, "careers are open to talent."

Premier Mussolini, talking to Italian lawyers, said lawyers made Roman law, the law made Rome great. He placed lawyers above poets, philosophers, but added that Fascism respects culture. "Fascism," he said, "is a new religion, a new drink, hemlock," said he, referring to Socrates' ending long ago.

In his high opinion of lawyers, Mussolini differs from an earlier advocate. Peter the Great, he expressed amazement, seeing flocks of lawyers with powder wigs in London, and said: "There are only two lawyers in St. Petersburg, and I am going to hang one of them."

Roosevelt Plans New Border State Drive

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
New York, Oct. 6 (INS)—At this stage of the campaign, with only four more weeks to go, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt is apparently confident of a Democratic sweep that will carry him into the White House in the November election.

Picture on Page 2

For the next two days Governor Roosevelt will devote himself to the South and border states, to start about October 17. He will go to Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, Missouri and perhaps a few other states. He will close the campaign in New York and New England.

His principal campaign activity today was to express radio greetings to a number of lieutenants over the country sponsored by the Roosevelt Business Men's League.

QUINCY FIREBUG LEAVES CLUES

A partly burned candle, highly inflammable rubber cement, a few-colored sort hat and a camel hair-topcoat were found today in an unoccupied store in East Squantum at Atlantic, where six firemen were overpowered by smoke while fighting fire last night. Inspector John R. Reardon of the State fire marshal's office and Fire Chief William J. Sande of Quincy found the alleged evidence as if it had been blown out at work, and they were also given a description of a youth who fled at the time of the fire. According to Vincent Todd and Edward Jones, both 14 and both living in Gloucester at Atlantic, an explosion preceded the fire and they then saw the youth about 21, come sprawling out of the vacant store, as if he had been blown out or had tripped while running. The youth, dark and stocky and wearing a white and blue sweater, ran away, the boys said.

NORWOOD WELFARE HEAD ACCUSED IN TRIAL

Judge Finds Story of Attempted Attack Unsubstantiated by Testimony

Arthur B. Rogers, chairman of the Norwood Welfare Board and head of the Norwood Gas Co., was found not guilty today to Dedham court on a statutory charge preferred against him by Mrs. Esther Foley of Norwood, mother of six children.

Mrs. Foley, a welfare recipient in Norwood, charged that Rogers, after making improper advances to her over a period of a year, attempted to attack her in her home on last September 12, while she had her husband and two policemen concealed in the cellar.

JUDGE'S FINDING
In summing up the evidence, Judge Clifford B. Babers said:

"The evidence does not sustain the allegation. The attitude of Mrs. Foley, in that she had a grudge against Rogers for his not providing her with everything that she wanted, coupled with the set-up by the police, is not enough evidence. I have no criticism of the police, who were only doing their duty."

Mrs. Foley, in her testimony, declared that Rogers offered to give her added welfare if she would submit to his advances, but threatened to have her children taken away if she did not.

Rogers took the stand, he denied Mrs. Foley's testimony and declared that she had made advances to him instead. Listening to her testimony was Rogers' wife, mother of two children.

TELLS OF VISITS
Mrs. Foley, whose home is at 18 Concord ave., Norwood, testified she had known Rogers seven years and that her husband had worked for Rogers with the gas company much of that time, but eventually had lost his job and had been compelled to go to the town welfare office.

According to Mrs. Foley, Rogers visited her home for the first time on Aug. 1, 1931, and even on that first visit began his unwelcome advances, stating that if not received he had only two weeks' work for her husband.

Rogers next visited her on Sept. 21, 1931, she said, and renewed his proposals, which she again rejected. She said he was going to be on the welfare board and would have

RIVALRY HELD IN HUSBAND FIGHT

Although another man visited her at her apartment in North Russell street last night, after midnight on Sept. 18, Mrs. Emma K. Pierce, 26, beauty shop proprietor, was in court today charged with a charge of mayhem for destroying one of her husband's eyes during a fight.

After a hearing, Judge Michael J. Murphy declined jurisdiction and held Murphy in $2000 for the grand jury.

"It was Murphy who used very little discretion in being in the apartment, Judge Murphy said. He said it was apparent a felony was committed, but there was some question whether Murphy or Guy de Santis, Pierce's companion during the visit, was responsible because of testimony that a tree-felling fight was in progress when something hit Pierce's eye."

Mrs. Pierce said Murphy was in the apartment because he was carrying books in from an auto.

SLUMP ENDING, SAYS BANK HEAD
Los Angeles, Oct. 6 (AP)—A demand for sweeping changes in the banking system and a prediction "the worst of the depression is passed" were made here today by Francis H. Sison of New York, new president of the American Bankers Association.

Addressing the closing session of the 85th convention of the association, which represents approximately $60,000,000,000 of the country's resources, Sison said he read the report of better times in the advance in prices of stocks, bonds and commodities and, on an even greater extent, in the disappearance of the panicky spirit of a few months ago.

KLAN STRENGTH IN DISTRICT RECALLED

Defense Counsel and Prosecutor Insist, However, That Trial Will Be Fair

A stirring drama involving law, prejudice and politics, is to be unfolded before the world next month when Libby Holman and Albert Walker are brought to trial on a charge of slaying the former's husband, Smith Reynolds.

But was the tobacco heir slain or did his own hand fire the death bullet? Is the case one of the most sensational in the history of the District of Columbia? We did Libby and Ab actually conspire to remove young Reynolds. It was to find an answer to these mystifying questions that Joseph Cowan, special correspondent of the Boston Evening American, went to Winston-Salem, N. C. The second installment of his stirring narrative is published today.

By JOSEPH COWAN
Winston-Salem, N. C., Oct. 6.—What is the story behind the indictment of Libby Holman Reynolds and Ab Walker for murder?

I came down here to find, for one thing, if religious prejudice and politics had anything to do with the predicament of Libby and Ab. And to what extent, if any, were the public officials motivated by the vast wealth of the Reynolds family.

BASIS FOR REPORTS
You have heard reports that it will be impossible for Libby to get a fair trial in Winston-Salem. There have been rumors that her counsel, Bennett Pookhoff and W. C. Continued on Page 4, Column 2

Pomp and Prejudice Go Hand-in-Hand to Add to Mystery of Reynolds Death Triangle

BEAUTIFUL WIDOW ACCUSED
Libby Holman Reynolds, torch singer of Broadway and widow of Smith Reynolds, heir to the tobacco millions. With Albert "Ab" Walker, close friend of the dead youth, she goes on trial, probably November 21, charged with the murder of her youthful husband.

BEST FRIEND OF VICTIM
Albert "Ab" Walker, friend and confidant of young Reynolds and now a principal in the trial for his murder, Joseph Cowan, special investigator for the Boston Evening American, is in Winston-Salem, N. C., now trying to pierce the mystery surrounding the case.

HOUSE OF DEATH
The beautiful estate Reynolds, at Winston-Salem, where the strange death of the boy millionaire was the aftermath of a gay party.

277,282 NOW ON SEDGWICK IS OFF VOTING LIST JURY DUTY

A total of 900 residents yesterday became registered voters. Mayor Curley announced today that the city's total registration at closing time was 277,282. This figure, the Mayor said, is 22,000 below the total for the election of 1928, but there are still 18 days left. Booths have been opened in all sections of the city charged she was injured in a fall.

DRY IS WET IN RACE PREJUDICE IN LIBBY HOLMAN CASE REVEALED IN PROBE

man Graves, will ask for a change of venue.
There have been plenty of intimations that the real charge against Libby is that she is guilty chiefly of being a Jewess.
There have been further intimations that if she were a Christian she would never have been indicted.
"I will tell you now, that there is apparently some bias of truth in this. This proof will be laid before you."
The Rev. Miss Klein was active and well organized in North Carolina. The Klan, of course, is gone, but it is impossible to say how much bigotry that made the Klan possible has remained.
Libby's counsel have made no move to get a change of venue, I don't think they will. Under the law, down here, the most they could do is shift the trial to a county contiguous to Winston-Salem or bring in a special venire from an outside county.

His religious animosity into the case. Smith was burning up, according to his theory. Perhaps he threatened to leave her because of it. The night of the shooting they may have quarreled over this again. Libby, dead drunk, shot him. McMichael may have reasoned.
REYNOLDS KNEW
No, this can't be used as an alibi. It wasn't true. Smith knew from the day he married Libby, and before it, that Libby was Jewish.
I learned this on the highest authority—the Reynolds family itself.
Mr. Will Reynolds, the head of it, is a brother of the late R. J. Reynolds. He was Smith's uncle. Almost from the day Smith married Libby on Nov. 28 last, the whole family knew she was a Jewess. He had told them. Her religion didn't mean a thing to him.
When Will Reynolds heard his nephew had married a Jewess he laughed.
"That's quite the thing in the South," was his comment. "Jewish men and women are marrying into some of the leading families down here. And why not? They don't make any finer people."
But if there is a feeling that the race question entered this case, it was the assistant state solicitor, J. Eric McMichael, who put it there.
In Tomorrow's Boston Evening American, Joseph Cowan continues the story of the investigation in the Libby Holman-Al Walker-Smith Reynolds tragedy.

SCOFF AT PREJUDICE
That's the way they feel about it and I found out after investigating things that a lot of people in this section feel pretty much the same about their solicitor and judge.
Libby Holman is a Jewess, but a lot of people down here insist she's not a fair trial. They are going to win, sure, but whether they secure one, to prove that bigotry had nothing to do with her indictment.
Carlisle Higgins, the state's solicitor, honestly believes that Libby doesn't have anything to fear because of her religion.
Perhaps he and the best people of Winston-Salem are right. Maybe those who are saying that Libby was indicted for murder because she is a Jewess are wrong.
But why did J. Eric McMichael, the assistant state's solicitor, go out of his way to inject this into the case?
Ab Walker was on the stand. The assistant solicitor had been shooting questions after question at him for an hour or more. Then, for no reason that you can find in the record, he asked this one:
Q—Did you know Mrs. Reynolds was a Jewess?
A—No, sir.
HIGGINS INDIGNANT
We were sitting in his office in the courthouse. Solicitor Higgins and I talking over this racial prejudice situation. He was tilted back in his chair, with his feet upon his desk, taking it easy for a spell.
"Mr. Higgins," I asked, "if there is really no prejudice against Jewish people down here, why did your assistant, Mr. McMichael, ask young Walker if he knew Libby was a Jewess?"
The solicitor it up on his feet. Ordinarily, he is a mild-spoken man. He is more now. His fists are clenched.
"I want to tell you," he began, "as damned if I know! Mr. McMichael should not have done that. I don't approve of it. It wouldn't have happened if I had been there."
Now why did McMichael inject this into the case?

GIRLS HELD IN PLOT TO FREE BROTHERS

Detroit, Oct. 6 (INS).—An amazing plot by two young women to dynamite a cell block at Jackson State Prison and free their convict brothers has been frustrated, according to police and prison officials.

The girls held were Mrs. Agnes Schomaker, 27, a sister of James Hall, 26-year-old bank robber, and Miss Mary Cross, 26, sister of Eddie Cross, 26, a bandit, sentenced from Pontiac.

One guard, Arthur French, was accused of a part in the plot, and two more are under suspicion. French, with the two convicts, and Charles Alex, 32, Dearborn rooming house proprietor, were held here for questioning.

It was in the building owned by Alex that Dearborn police yesterday stumbled upon a cache of dynamite, guns and ammunition in the room occupied by the two attractive girls.

Police quoted Miss Cross as confessing that the girls planned to smuggle the dynamite and the guns into Cross' cell in the "old prison" in the heart of the city of Jackson.

Then they were to wait outside the prison in a car, she said, to pick up Cross and Hall after they had blasted their way to freedom.

Writing clue to plot. Prison officials said the plot, if carried out, would have wrecked the wall of the cell-block, and liberated probably 100 prisoners. There would have been danger, according to Warden Harry Jackson, of liberating the entire 1500 men in the old prison.

Prosecutor Toy said French was linked to the plot by circumstantial evidence. Handwriting on a letter addressed to Mrs. Schomaker has been identified as that of French.

The letter, written on prison stationery, advised her to meet two men outside the prison today, and set a definite date for the bombing.

All citizens of Watertown were urged today by Secretary A. E. Cies to attend a meeting at the senior high school Monday, Oct. 10, at 6:30 p. m., to organize a taxpayers' committee and launch a protest against the town's $20 tax rate.

The purpose of the council is to study all factors that make up as costs to public facts for guidance of voters and to take any steps necessary toward relief from mounting tax burdens.

Edward D. Holland, chairman of Watertown selectmen, has been invited to speak, and other speakers will be Dudley Harrison, executive vice-president of the New England Council; Rep. William B. Baker, a member of the House ways and means committee; and Gaylord Cummin, civic and tax consultant.

DAWES OPENS NEW BANK IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Oct. 6 (INS)—Transfer of all deposits of the Central Republic Bank & Trust Co. of which Gen. Charles G. Dawes was chairman of the board, to the newly organized City National Bank & Trust Co. was announced today by Philip R. Clarke, president of the new organization.

The Central Republic Bank & Trust Co. recently obtained an $80,000,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corp. when the institution was threatened with heavy withdrawals. The interest charges on this loan, plus increasing difficulties to meet fixed charges, such as rent, produced such an unworkable condition, Clarke explained, that the bank was threatened with liquidation.

The new City National Bank and Trust Company, with paid-in capitalization of $4,000,000 and a surplus of $1,000,000 provided by a syndicate, this morning took over all banking phases of the older institution. The Central Republic Bank and Trust Company will continue in operation insofar as its trust and real estate loan departments are concerned, Joseph R. Dix, chairman of its board, announced.

Gen. Dawes and Clarke will be chairman and president, respectively, of the new institution. Upon their resignation from Central Republic, Dix was selected to fill both positions. A statement said that Central Republic could continue its existence only by divesting itself of its deposits to a separate institution.

SALES TAX HELD BIG SUCCESS

Los Angeles, Oct. 6 (UP)—Triumphant success of the sales tax now in effect in Mississippi, which overcame stubborn opposition as effectively that the people are insisting that it be increased, was graphically portrayed today by Gov. M. R. Connor of that state to the American Bankers Association convention.

He said this tax had not only solved his state's emergency financial problems, but that merchants are co-operating wholeheartedly and that some of those who once opposed it are now among its most ardent advocates.

His address was one of the outstanding features, and provided widespread and favorable comment.

B. E. F. PLEA WILL GO TO HOOVER

Uniontown, Pa., Oct. 6 (AP)—With the nation's capital as its next objective, the Bonus Expeditionary Force prepared today to wind up its first national convention.

Factional chiefs predicted a vigorous fight for posts in the cabinet of National Commander Walter W. Waters, but insisted harmony would follow the clashes on the convention floor, "no matter who wins."

As the delegates assembled, however, interest in the election was overshadowed by the hurried preparations to send a committee to call on President Hoover.

Eight men and two women will depart for Washington as soon as the convention is adjourned with resolutions demanding "public recognition of the B. E. F. and payment of adjusted compensation certificates."

Marriage Bureau Romance Broken in Divorce Court

A matrimonial bureau romance, punctuated with testimony of home brew and desertion, was heard in Middlesex court today.

Cross suits for divorce were presented by Anthony W. Mills and Mrs. Myra L. Mills, but Anthony, charging desertion, won his suit before Judge Leggat.

Mrs. Mills, 30, said they were married in April, 1929, after a courtship through a matrimonial bureau. According to her, they were married on Wednesday, went to live in Shirley on Thursday and had their first quarrel on Saturday.

LIVE TOGETHER A MONTH.
Mills made beer on Sunday, got drunk on Monday and was intoxicated most of the time until they separated in May, she said.

She wanted a divorce on grounds of gross habits of intoxication. Mills told the court he had worked as a civilian in the laundry at Camp Devens for 18 years and was foreman there seven years. He admitted he made home brew twice, but said his wife had a drink out of every bottle he opened.

His claim that he was never drunk and that he always drove his car to and from work was substantiated by several other employees of the laundry.

He said that three days after his marriage he objected to his wife making purchases in an unsanitary store.

He said that Mrs. Mills answered his objections by saying: "Don't tell me what to do. Do as I say or we won't get along."

He said he had not seen his wife since she left him until today in court.

M CERTAIN HOOVER, POLL SHOWS

By COLE E. MORGAN
Washington, Oct. 5 (U.P.)—Maine certainly belongs to President Hoover. The closest calculation gives him the state by a minimum of 20,000 votes.

It may go above 80,000. He carried Maine in 1928 by more than 98,000.

About the heat the Democrats can hope to do in November is to add a few thousand to the 119,000 polled in the September state election when Brann, the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, won over the Republican opponent by less than 1000 majority.

Return from Maine in the nationwide presidential poll of the Boston Evening American in cooperation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States, show Hoover receiving 83 per cent of the poll ballots. On this basis he would carry the state by 87,000.

In only three instances do the poll ballots indicate Roosevelt running stronger than Brann did in September. In Androscoggin, Cumberland and Hancock Counties he shows some increased strength.

Assuming that Roosevelt should get the full Democratic vote that went to Brann and the additional votes indicated in the three counties mentioned, he would still muster only around 120,000 leaving Hoover 160,000 of the 280,000 that the state voted four years ago.

The 498 new ballots tabulated today divided exactly 63 per cent for Hoover and 37 for Roosevelt.

MARTIN TO SCAN MAINE BALLOTS

Portland, Me., Oct. 6 (A.P.)—Maine's state election post-mortem entered a new phase today with the announcement of Business Martin of Augusta, defeated Republican candidate for governor, that he would ask permission to inspect all the ballots for governor.

Martin, who trailed Louis J. Brann, Levitt Democrat, by 1903 votes, according to the gubernatorial tabulation by the secretary of the state, said he and his counsel would inspect each and every one of the 280,000 ballots cast Sept. 12.

Whether he would ask the Legislature, which convenes the first week in January, for a recount, Martin said would depend on the findings of the inspection.

The formal request to the secretary of state for an inspection will be made soon he said, and he estimated the inspection would require possible two months.

The Legislature also has the right to make the official tabulation for the governorship and other state offices, obtaining its figures from the secretary of state. That body also has the sole right to allow and conduct a recount through its committee on the gubernatorial vote.

How Nominees Stand In Nation-Wide Poll

Washington, Oct. 6.—The tabulation that follows shows the total vote thus far recorded for President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt in the nationwide Presidential poll of the Boston Evening American in cooperation with all other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States.

It also shows the majority each candidate has in each State in which he is leading.

In addition, it gives the gain of each candidate on the latest returns received from each State, as compared with the last preceding report from the State. These State reports are usually a week apart.

The first feature of this table shows the net gain of each candidate in each State where he has improved his position, as compared with the last preceding report from that State.

Mussolini Gaily Pays Fine After Great Shooting

Rome, Oct. 6 (AP)—Premier Mussolini gaily paid a fine of five lire (about 20 cents) today after he had made an almost perfect score at the national rifle tournament.

He fired a military rifle 24 times, each shot hitting the target and 32 clipping the bullseye.

But as he turned from firing he failed to open the breech block of the rifle and Secretary Battenfeld said: "I am sorry, your excellency, but you are fined five lire."

HOOVER IN REAL TO CANCEL WAR DEBTS

By KENNETH CLARK

Washington, Oct. 6 (18)—President Hoover's declaration on Wednesday in his Das Moines speech was accepted today as a definite promise to Europe of downward revision of the $11,000,000,000 indebtedness.

Under the President's scheme, the debts would be placed on the European bargain counter in exchange for trade benefits to American agriculture.

European diplomats here seized upon the proposal with enthusiasm. To their minds, the exchange would mean only one thing—reduction of the debt to a point tantamount to cancellation.

As a result debts are certain to come up for bargaining at the world economic and monetary conference in London this winter.

The President's speech was taken as revealing the strategy behind the various understandings on the debt. There is to be no cancellation, the President said.

He is opposed to it. But he offered to use any annual debt payment "for the specific purpose of securing an expansion of the foreign markets for American Agriculture."

Such an arrangement necessarily means downward debt revision, it was pointed out. European diplomats now definitely forego debt concessions from the administration.

ADOPTED BABES RULE STARS

Hollywood, Oct. 6 (18)—Los Angeles society women have been adopting British babies, but American children are good enough for Hollywood.

Four-year-old Penelope is the latest adopted child to rule a Hollywood nursery. She arrived today in the home of Frederic March film actor, and his wife, the former Florence Eldridge.

She was adopted in the East and came in the care of a nurse. Little Penelope is only one of many children who have been adopted in Hollywood homes recently.

In addition, old man stork has been a busy bird in the cinema capital, and according to reports, several events are expected in homes of several motion picture stars in the near future.

Recent "new arrivals" include John Barrymore, Jr., in the home of John and Dolores Barrymore, who also boasts the unofficial title of "crown prince" of the royal family.

Little Carol Lee is queen of the Sue Carol-Nick Stuart establishment.

It's a boy in the home of Stuart Erwin and June Collyer, but there's considerable difference of opinion over what he will be called. Stuart calls him "Bill," and June calls him "Stuart, Jr.," he will be christened.

OTHERS, REAL AND ADOPTED—It's a boy also in the home of Slim Summerville—a husky one, too, if you ask, papa about it.

Mary Astor, in private life, Mrs. Frankie Thorpe, retired temporarily from the screen awaiting her child who was born in Honolulu.

Then there's Barbara Rebe Lyon,

MRS. FEDERIC MARCH

one-year-old and absolute master of the Ben Lyon-Rebe Daniels home. Other noted adoptions in addition to Frederic March's penelope, $150, an increase of $250 over the 1931 rate.

Exiled Mexican Prelate in U.S.

Laredo, Texas, Oct. 6 (AP)—An exile from his native land for the second time, Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz y Flores, aged Catholic prelate, crossed the international boundary into the United States early today.

The Pope's delegate was expelled by order of President Alvaro Obregón as a "pernicious foreigner" as an outgrowth of his comments on the recent encyclical by Pope Pius XI which discussed the situation of the church in Mexico. He will go to San Antonio from Laredo and from San Antonio to New York.

much to any of its operation, she testified.

"I will dress up your children nicely," he told the witness, and when she objected, he asked if she knew any other woman who would accept his attentions, she said.

In August of this year he visited her home again, witness declared, and threatened to take her children away from her.

"If you are good to me," he said, according to Mrs. Foley, "your children will not have to go to school without stockings."

"Then they will stay at home," Mrs. Foley told him, she asserted.

"I will get you all you want from the board of welfare. I will be back Monday when the children are at school," Rogers replied, according to Mrs. Foley.

Mrs. Foley said she told her husband and then the police and that a trip was set for Rogers, with a sergeant and two policemen stationed in the collar with her husband.

She said Rogers called on Monday, Sept. 12, in the forenoon and opened all the closet doors and looked in the rooms.

"I said to him, 'Where are my keys for the children?'" Mrs. Foley testified. "He said, 'Well, you won't get anything.'"

He came toward me. I pushed him away and we struggled. I cried: "Don't" three times, which was the signal for my husband and the police to rush up from the cellar. They caught Rogers, and he tried to fix it up with the officers."

Sergeant Thomas Lydon of Newwood police, one of the officers arrested in the Foley home, testified that Rogers was disinclined when police arrived upstairs and that he said to the sergeant:

"Lydon, why didn't you tip me off? I can explain everything."

ROGERS' VICTORIES

Patrolman Henry Breen testified that after he had taken Rogers to the police station and was locking him up, Rogers said:

"Why didn't you tip me off, Breen? As God is my judge, this is the first time I ever was with her."

The government's case was treated with Breen's testimony, and Rogers himself took the stand.

Rogers asserted that when he visited Mrs. Rogers on Sept. 12 he explained about the neatness of the house and she smiled and said to him:

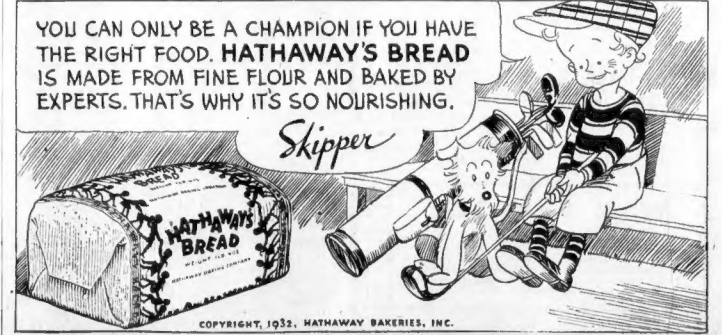

"I'll bet if I was good to you, you would give me everything."

"Don't be foolish," said Rogers, according to his testimony.

"She reached over and grabbed me," Rogers said, "and then the police came in and pushed me out of the room."

IMPROVED METHODS OF HOME MANAGEMENT SHOWN AT COOKING SCHOOL

PROPER DIET PROTECTS TEETH

"How many of us go through life without a single tooth cavity? Mighty few," says Mrs. Frances Northcross, lecturer of the Boston American Home Economics Cooking School.

For years most of us have thought tooth decay was due to external action of foods and acids on the teeth, together with insufficient brushing.

Science has now discovered that the principal reason teeth become soft, decay cavities and break down generally, is that we aren't getting the protective elements in our diets.

Out of the mineral work of science, the most telling comes the good news that the decay can be prevented by a diet and toothbrushing.

Even food is rich in these foods that give the proper balance of calcium phosphorus and vitamins.

Milk is the best source of calcium and phosphorus. Oranges, lemons, limes, and other fruits are good sources of vitamin C. Eggs milk and other foods contain small quantities of vitamin D.

But by far the best source of this vitamin is the cod liver oil which is found in the cod liver oil capsules.

These capsules are available in all drug stores.

LECTURER IS BRIDGE ENTHUSIAST

One of the first trips Mrs. Frances Northcross, our lecturer, made on arriving in Boston was to the Riverway to see the Bridge Den which Frank Archer built for the women of New England. Although the frame of this Pontoon apartment had previously been brought to her attention, Mrs. Northcross said that seeing her personally gave her an idea of the beauty of the bridge. She will be present at the Pontoon apartment.

Frank Archer, a lecturer at the Boston American Home Economics Cooking School, is a bridge enthusiast. He is a member of the Bridge Den, a club of bridge players in Boston.

FIRST AID FOR GOOD RECIPES

Here is a tested recipe for a simple, delicious hot cereal which blends perfectly with any fruit or berry (apple or orange).

2 cups flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening
2 level teaspoons Rumford Baking Powder

Mix together the flour, salt and baking powder. Mix in the shortening and mix with the milk. Divide into two portions. Roll each one on a floured board in a 1/2 inch cake. Lay one portion over the other, having first spread the bottom layer with softened butter.

Spread a little additional butter over the top portion, and bake about 15 minutes in a moderately hot oven—375 degrees F. When done, split the two sections apart. Add here are some other of Mrs. Northcross' favorites:

SWISS POTATO SOUP
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup onion
1/2 cup potato

Roll potatoes, and put through meat and onion powder with pepper and butter. Add cream in a milk bottle and beat vigorously. Put into a greased baking dish and bake in a hot oven, about 300 degrees F., until mixture is puffed and browned. Marshmallows may be added to top and browned if desired.

Clever Gadgets Save Labor in Kitchen

One of the centers of interest at the Boston American Cooking School is the table which contains over a hundred kitchen gadgets from Jordan Marsh Company. Here, every development of inventive genius to lighten household labor especially in the kitchen, is on display.

A bacon and egg, which permits cooking both breakfast essentials at one time, but separately, also is on display. Another gadget that makes heart, dumplings, apples and other things for the cook, a device for cutting cake without marring the frosting and some of other novel and helpful labor savers are shown at the school.

Tasty Treats for Sunday Suppers

A Sunday night supper suggestion is those new little unbaked biscuits which might be prepared in a few minutes. All sorts of good things can be poured over them. For instance—Chicken or a King, piping hot, garnished with sliced stuffed olives is a real delicacy. Creamed lobster or Japanese crabmeat, or if you prefer a more substantial dish, try the delicious pork fried fruit sauce, strawberries, raspberries, or cherries.

Ask yourself

These biscuits hit the right spot. But will they agree with me?

Darling, these are digestible. I made them with Crisco, the digestible fat.

RUSSIAN WRAP-AROUNDS

1 pound chopped steak
1 tablespoon minced onion
Mix with oil or onion and wrapping. Form into flat patties. Fry enough Crisco into skillet to cover bottom liberally when heated. Brown steak on both sides. Serve Crisco in pan for cream gravy.

BISCUIT DOUGH

1/2 cup milk (variable)
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Now cut in the shortening. For light, do not use butter or shortening. Place in a greased baking dish and bake for 10 to 15 minutes at 375° F. (hot oven). To Crisco in frying pan add 1 tablespoon water, stir until well blended. Then add about 1/2 cup milk and stir gently. Salt to taste. Add chopped parsley and pour over biscuits.

"Won't a strong fat cause indigestion?"

Isn't it safer to use Crisco—the wholesome digestible shortening?

Before you make your next batch of biscuits, look at your shortening. Does it look good to eat? Does it smell inviting? How does it taste?

If your shortening isn't 100% good, aren't you afraid it may be indigestible?

Now—open a sanitary can of Crisco and make the same test. It looks good to eat—as pure as new cream. It smells fresh. It tastes as sweet as new-churned butter.

Crisco is digestible. It doesn't begin to turn rancid when it is exposed to air. It keeps its pure wholesomeness for months... because it's made by Crisco's own secret process to keep digestible!

Make Wrap-Arounds with the fluffy, puffy biscuits that Crisco makes. They'll taste good. They'll digest easily!

At these 3 danger points, ordinary fats may cause digestive troubles. Crisco digests easily.

In the cooking school this week conducted under the auspices of the Boston American, Mrs. Frances Northcross uses and recommends Crisco, the modern shortening that digests easily.

PARLIAMENT OF CANADA MEETS TO SEAL PACTS

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 6 (AP)—One of the most momentous sessions of the Parliament of Canada in many years opens this afternoon.

Called together three months earlier than usual for the special purpose of ratifying agreements reached at the recent imperial conference here the House of Commons and Senate are expected to dispose of this business in a month or less, and then adjourn until February or March when they will take up the remainder of the session's business.

GIVE ROOM RAILEE

Lowering skies threatened to dim the brilliant appearance of opening day, but rain or shine the fate of the parliamentary proceedings was not to be decided by a guard of mounted troops from Ottawa left in the Parliament building.

The plans on Parliament Hill will boom out a salute and at 3 o'clock the governing councils will take their seats on the throne in the Senate chamber and decide Parliament open.

Never before has Parliament met before it is more treaties of ratification as it will have at this session. Of first importance is the imperial conference agreement in the trade treaty with the United Kingdom which marks a distinct new departure in the relations of the British Empire.

TREATY WITH IRELAND

Treaties with the Irish Free State and other dominions will come before the House.

While action on the St. Lawrence waterways treaty with the United States will be deferred at least until the latter part of the session that treaty stands ready for ratification.

Members today are looking forward with more than usual interest to the speech from the throne. It will definitely raise and comment on the work of the imperial conference and forecast the action to be taken before Parliament by the government.

DIVORCE BARES ELOPEMENT

The elopement of Ruth Scott, a 22-year-old American girl with a Boston Chinese restaurant owner was revealed today when she filed a divorce suit in Probate Court against William Y.

The girl who now asks the right to resume her maiden name is an attractive blonde and lives in the Park St.

She charges Yee, owner of a restaurant in Washington St. South End, with cruel and wanton neglect to provide.

Under the excitement of a party at which Chinese liquor was drunk she eloped to Newark, N. J., with Yee on July 21, 1921, she declares. In her suit filed through Atty. Charles Albert of Chelsea.

Another couple accompanied them, making it an elaborate four-anniversary party. They returned to Boston and in that city Yee has failed to provide for her support, Mrs. Yee alleges.

SON BELIEVED DEAD RETURNS

Long Beach, Cal., Oct. 6 (AP)—With tears in her eyes, Mrs. Helen Young heard today that a man who had identified himself as Robert Young, her son and former Island Wagoner, had returned to her after being believed dead and had appeared at Gibraltar after being in the French Foreign Legion.

The mother, believing that he was one of the victims of a train wreck last month in Algeria, in which many Legionnaires were killed, said she had given up hope of seeing him again.

She said he left his home here in 1920 to join the Legion. His father and two older brothers had served in the World War, one brother being killed.

Candy is Being Imitated

by the high-priced swanky candy manufacturers!

There's an old adage that—
"The truth often hurts"

One of the "swanky" manufacturing confectioners 'phoned us, the other day, and said—

"Can't you sell Loft Candy without telling the public that Loft Candy is the only Candy that's fit to eat?"

Our reply was—

"Of course we can—but we are bound to tell the public the truth because that's the Loft Way of doing things."

We know that our Candy is better—we believe that there is no other Candy as pure as ours—we are dealing with the public and no one else—we depend upon the Boston public for their patronage and they depend upon us for PURE CANDY.

Everybody in Boston knows that Loft established low prices on fine candy years ago. Candy at 49¢ the pound is synonymous with Loft; Loft originated the 9's in Candy. Now the "swanky", high-priced confectioners are not only imitating Loft Candies, but they are imitating Loft prices—they must be "all hot and bothered"—and we, of course, feel that imitation is the most sincere form of flattery.

We feel flattered and extend our thanks—and—we are going to keep right on telling the truth about Loft Candies to the Boston public.

HOOVER'S FACTS, FIGURES
MAKE MOST SPEECHES
RHYTHMLESS AND DULL

By ROBERT E. ROGERS

IT IS A COMMONPLACE, of course, of literary criticism that great oratory is highly rhythmic, since oratory is profoundly emotional and emotion tends to express itself naturally in bodily and verbal cadence. A week ago I happened to mention to my class in poetry at the Gardner Auditorium that there is little great oratory nowadays and that Mr. Hoover is chiefly deficient in that art, his speeches being essentially anecdotal rather than poetic, exposition rather than oratory—all of which accounts for their prosa.

A woman in the class differed with me at the end, insisting that in the subject on which Mr. Hoover feels most deeply—children and the home—his emotion does communicate itself to his style. She cited the well known Hoover manifesto or credo for the children—I forget the exact title—which was repeated last week at the welfare workers' conference as a fair example.

Iowa Speech Opens From Heart

I was interested, therefore, in listening to Mr. Hoover's Iowa address the other evening, to note that he began the address ably laboring under considerable emotion and that in his opening paragraphs there was not only human feeling but a simple rhythm to the phrase which was most effective. It was an admirable glad. For instance:

"I am glad, a son of the soil of this state, to come back to where I was born and where I spent the first ten years of my boyhood. My parents and my grandparents came to Iowa in covered wagons—pioneers in this community. They lie buried in your soil. They broke the prairie into homes of independent living. They worshipped God, they did their duty to their neighbors. They told to bring to their children greater comfort, better education, and to open to the wider opportunity than their own."

Not the Gettysburg Address, by any means, but possessing a simplicity that brings it nearer to that classic than many a more ambitious effort. It can be seen, though, that Mr. Hoover has no very keen ear for rhythm.

"I vividly recollect a Christmas on the farm when the sole resources of my few popcorn balls, sorghum and hickory nuts, when for a flock of disappointed children there were no store toys, no store clothes, when it was carefully explained that because of the hard times everything must be saved for the mortgage. The word 'mortgage' became for me a dreaded and haunting fear from that day to this."

So far so good. But almost immediately he drops this line, this style of his, and goes back to the old Hoover, the Hoover of details, facts, statistics, multifarious details... the sort of thing which might be handled if properly spaced on the printed page but which is almost unendurable when the human ear has to listen to the human voice for something like an hour and a half. I suppose we should admit that it is no longer that old-fashioned in campaign speeches or set orations to speak for three, four, even six hours. Only an actor's or vocalist's talent trained to a high degree could have made those old orations endurable.

Coughing Betrays Audience

When Mr. Hoover is in his stride, this is the sort of thing he gives us:

"Owing to the lack in the Federal Reserve system of the kind of securities required by the law for the additional 50 per cent coverage of the currency, the Reserve system was forced to increase their gold reserve up to 75 per cent. Thus with $1,500,000,000 of hoarded currency there was in effect over $1,000,000,000 of gold hoarded by our citizens."

Now that is emphatically not a paragraph to catch on the fly and dig while the speaker is going on to something probably quite as complex and technical. And most of the hour and a half of the address was equally difficult. When he came to the facts and figures involved in multifarious points for farm relief, Mr. Hoover became increasingly technical. They were technicalities of a sort probably far clearer to an Iowa audience than to a Massachusetts audience, but one auditor at least was left with the feeling that an avalanche had passed over him.

It is noticeable that the speaker brought the echoes of a great auditorium filled with loud coughing. It is true that it had rained heavily the day before and was very cold on that evening, but any speaker knows that coughing in large amounts is not a sign of respiratory disease so much as a sign of a bored and inattentive audience. And if a fairly intelligent person sitting comfortably at home in front of his radio had to strain every nerve, during the last half of the address, to keep his mind on the job, what must have been the condition of a vast heterogeneous crowd in a huge hall, trying amidst coughs to understand what the loud speaker was relaying from the little man on the platform, who was speaking so quietly, without any relief of oratory or appeal to the emotions, and with an incessant stream of details, facts, statistics and arguments bearing on what is probably the most complicated and difficult problem the world has ever known.

Roosevelt Dramatizes Issues

In that fact lies the comparative success of Mr. Roosevelt as a campaigner. His voice is alive and vibrant, astonishingly youthful. He is orator enough, and actor enough, to keep his audience awake. He is poetically experienced enough to avoid statistics and difficult technical arguments. He sticks to generalities, it is true, because it is also true that generalities are all that 75 per cent of our voting men and women are capable of understanding. He knows how to dramatize the issue.

I think that Mr. Hoover is a far greater master of his subject than Mr. Roosevelt. The Lord knows, he ought to be! But to present it thus, orally, something which would be difficult enough when set down in black and white in the Statesman's Year Book, shows an over-consciousness on the one hand and a lack of political sense on the other which is going to defeat him. Let us assume for a minute that all he says is true; that his views and methods are correct, that his plans will eventually work out, the fact remains that probably not one-quarter of adult Americans are competent to criticize what he is talking about, and the rest must perforce dismiss it all with a hopeless shrug and turn to the orator who offers them, as they believe, sympathy and understanding, a liberal atmosphere, hope—above all, hope!

Possibly Theodore Roosevelt might have been able to do it, though it is doubtful. He never tackled anything so difficult. And it is worth remembering that it was precisely a problem of comparable difficulty that Woodrow Wilson was unable to get the American people to understand when he wished them to understand it. It was that, quite as much as the Senate opposition, that licked him.

ETHER MANIAC ATTACKS 3 CHILDREN

Enters 2 Chelsea Homes and Sprays Anesthetic on Sleeping Victims

Fingerprints left on the bed of one of his victims are the only clue to an "ether maniac" whose activities, early today, terrorized Chelsea.

While police are checking the fingerprints, believing the man who invaded two homes and administered ether to three sleeping children may be a criminal, officials lean to the theory that some deranged person is responsible.

Detective Walter Brown, in check-up of drug stores, found six which reported having sold small quantities of ether in the past month to various persons.

It was also revealed that, about a month ago, a stranger had invaded the home of Jacob Fisman in Bloomsdale street and entered the bedroom of his son, Philip, aged 8, who last night frightened the man away by his screams.

THOUGHT BOY DREAMING
On the first visit, the boy awoke before the man was able to administer ether, and he was so terrified that he believed that their son had been dreaming, and paid no attention to the matter.

Today, Philip was under the doctor's care, suffering from the effects of ether and fright.

A message describing the man was obtained from Philip Fisman. The intruder was described as young, tall and slender and was wearing dark clothes.

KIDS SATURATED
Shortly after fleeing the Fisman home, the man appeared at a house at a mile away. Arthur Gibbs, 20, of Jefferson ave., and his wife, Shirley, were awakened by a smell of ether. Investigation revealed the beds of their two small children, Bertram, 7, and Richard, 16 months, had been saturated with the compound.

Andrew Carnegie, 2d, Defendant in Suit

Julian E. Gammon of Jacksonville, Fla., today filed suit in Suffolk Superior Court for $2000 against Andrew Carnegie, 2d, of Manchester, Mass., to collect for professional services.

Gammon seeks to recover $2000 fees, plus interest, for consultation on the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, set up in 1913 and 1914, and named the National Bank of Boston as trustee.

Boat Driver Freed on Reckless Charge

The first defendant in Boston under a new law, punishing reckless operators of motor vehicles, was found not guilty today.

In East Boston district court, Anthony G. Bertolino, 38, of Maverick st., whose boat collided with a car near Commonwealth Pier Sept. 29, injuring several persons, proved his brother blew a warning blast.

Schedule in bankruptcy proceedings filed with the clerk of the federal court today by Mahanan, Inc., Boston, shows liabilities of $124,930, netted $23,453.

More Dynamite Is Found in Lynn Pond

Three more sticks of dynamite stolen last Friday in Lynn from a boat on the pond were found today in Broad's pond, Lynn.

Of the 24 sticks stolen last Friday, 21 are now missing.

ENDANGERED BY ANAESTHETIC FIEND

Jeannette and Samuel Fisman, whose younger brother, Philip, was one of the victims in the ether attack. They were sleeping nearby but the smaller boy's screams routed the maniac before he had a chance to attack them.

SWEAT SHOPS TO FACE BOYCOTT

Sweat shops and shoe factories in which girls are alleged to be harassed and insulted will be boycotted on a national scale, the Rev. Charles W. Squire, chairman of the clergyman's committee to investigate conditions in Lynn factories, announced today.

The Rev. Mr. Squire stated that he would call a meeting of the clergyman's committee to which the affidavits submitted by girls working in Mayor J. Fred Stanton's and Miss Margaret Whelan's of the Massachusetts Consumers' League will be considered.

The chairman also stated that an effort will be made to have proper owners and bankers "put pressure" on the alleged sweat-shop proprietors.

YOUTH HUNTED AS L SNIPER

One of a group of boys was believed by police today to have fired the shot which wounded Miss Rose Marcantonio, 23, of Cornell st., West Roxbury, as she was riding in an elevated train between Dudley and Esplanade st.

The young woman was struck by the stray bullet as the train sped along the Washington st. elevated structure near Barrett st. She was removed from the train when it reached Esplanade and taken to City Hospital.

Early today City Hospital officials said the girl's condition was not serious. They said the bullet had punctured the flesh in the lower part of the back of her head.

Storekeepers in that section told police the shot had been fired by one of a crowd of boys between 12 and 18 years of age who were in the neighborhood.

Peril for Expectant Mother to Smoke, Says Expert

"There is nothing more harmful to expectant mothers than cigarette smoking," Dr. Elias Taylor Ransom, superintendent of a Bay State rd. maternity hospital, declared today in contradiction of a statement made by Dr. Joseph L. Boer of the Rush Medical College in Chicago.

Dr. Boer says that a woman expecting a baby can smoke six or eight cigarettes a day without harm to the child. He does not know what he is talking about.

"Nonsense, in even the smallest portions, is certain to impair the health of an unborn baby. Even before birth, the child's strength is affected so that he does not have the same chance of coming into the world that another baby, untouched by nicotine, has."

"The poison from cigarettes has its direct effects on the nerve system of the baby. And of course that in turn damages the physical health."

"I would warn women against smoking just as urgently as I would against alcohol or indigestible foods."

An faculty into the smoking habits of the women at the Boston Lying-in-Hospital revealed that these mothers in the section of his hospital under public supervision were prohibited the use of tobacco.

Milk Is O.K. It's All in How You Take It

Judicial recognition of milk as a panacea for that morning after was given in municipal court today, but it didn't prevent a South End man from going to jail on a larceny charge.

Albert Downey of Dwight st., South End, charged with stealing a quart of milk from a chain store, told Judge Murray he took the milk to "straighten out a friend."

"You had a few yourself, didn't you?" queried the court. Downey replied that he had.

"Milk is alright, they tell me," agreed the court. "I hope your friend is recovered and you can recover in Charles St. Jail until Monday unless you can furnish $200 bail."

Downey lacked the $200.

ALIEN STUDENTS FIGHT JOB BAN

Styling themselves "unofficial ambassadors" from their countries, the Foreign Students committees of Phillips Brooks House at Harvard prepared to protest today against the Doak Resolution barring foreign students from earning their way through college.

A protest was given last night and after it is endorsed by the faculty committee on foreign students, it will be sent to the Secretary of Labor and to President Hoover.

In the protest it is stated that only rarely does it occur that a foreign student holds a position that should be held by citizens.

The mass was celebrated by the Rev. James Fitzsimmons with the Rev. Charles H. Foley, dean, and the Rev. Arthur J. Flaherty of Somerville, sub-decan.

LEACH MCGUIRK REFUSES TO BE "GIL DOBIE"

ONLY LEACH AT MALDEN'S MISFORTUNE

By BILL CONWELL
Warren McGuirk, Malden high football coach, smiled placidly today when reminded of the illness and injury which have robbed him of the services of his captain and first and second string quarterbacks with a stretch of tough games just ahead.

"Why complain?" he remarked. "Just the breaks."

Most coaches would find material for plenty of moaning if their variety pick sustained a "flu-flu" ear, and the replacement field general contracted scarlet fever.

But not McGuirk. The main thing on his mind today is the possibility that Sam Pashlian, new Malden quarterback, may develop into one of the front rank signal blockers.

CORE AND CONE OF MALDEN TORNADO

Sam Pashlian, left, Malden high backfield thunderbolt, gets ready to take a pass from Leo Logue. Pashlian was moved this week from fullback to the pilot's berth. His big, big, fast and smart, and may become a first-class field general. Malden, termed "golden tornado," is an improving team.

LEWIS' TITLE CHANCE GOES WITH BEAUTY

By COPELAND C. BURG
New York, Oct. 6. (INS)
Things came to a pretty pass in New York today. It was learned that Ed "Strangler" Lewis can't be world's heavyweight wrestling champion because he's no John Gilbert.

Just not beautiful enough is the answer of the New York fans to the somewhat portly, frayed and unromantic looking Mr. Lewis. He may have been a great one a decade ago, but today he has a hard time getting a crowd and never will cause a scene hearing the furies to rush for a gymnasium.

New York's verdict was unofficial who else Strangler so rarely and calmly subdued Jimmy Stein on Monday night.

New Flying Tackle Rules Clarified by Bill Langford

By WILLIAM S. LANGFORD
(Secretary National Football Rules Committee)
New York, Oct. 6 (AP).—Prohibition against the use of the hands in the line of scrimmage has been clarified by the National Football Rules Committee.

The committee has decided that a player may use his hands to push or shove an opponent, but not to grasp or hold him. This decision was reached after a long and heated discussion of the matter.

The committee also decided that a player may use his hands to block an opponent, but not to strike him. This decision was also reached after a long and heated discussion of the matter.

GRIFFITH SAYS HE MAY PILOT SENATORS

Washington, Oct. 5. (AP).—Senator Charles H. McNary of Oregon today said he may be the first senator to pilot a biplane. He has been studying the subject for some time and expects to make a flight soon.

McNary is a well-known aviator and has been flying for many years. He is now a member of the National Aeronautics Association.

KELEYS' CAULIFLOWER
The whole thing started when Joe Kelley, another passer and kicker of the team, was bumped a couple of weeks ago, and a swollen left ear developed. Treatment failed to clear up the condition, but Joe continued to play. Finally Kelley was sent to the Massachusetts Eye and Ear infirmary, and yesterday he took a walk in the park while the ear was sliced open and the swollen area examined.

Kelley was back at practice late in the afternoon. But with the news that he has been ordered to stay on the bench for at least a month.

A tough break, but worse than tough coming at a time when Charles Byrne, second string quarterback, has scarlet fever. A report received around yesterday that the Malden game at Melrose next Saturday might be called off "there is nothing in this, according to Faculty Manager Fred Nash at Malden. Nash had the team equipment and locker building fumigated thoroughly, to be on the safe side."

SCHOOL GRID TWIN-BILL AT FENS TODAY

East Boston and Trade in one game, and Jamaica Plain and South Boston in the other are on the card today at Fenway Park, in a very angry double bill.

Charley Carroll, formerly of Boston English, traveled to Fyresburg Academy last year but his sports career there was nipped by appendicitis. Carroll will be 25, for the baseball season, though.

Skip Sherlock's Hyde Park eleven brings to show real football ability as it scored a 19-0 victory over Memorial at Fenway Park. Ed Garavito tallied for Memorial, and Kidulfi, Hyde Park flash, made a pair of touchdowns.

Kidulfi Melanson, Malden High and Villanova back of other years, is doing a nice job coaching in Fyresburg backfield. He has the boys hopping around with all the success which marked Villanova when Eddie explained that eleven.

MR. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY
JUST A MINUTE, please. There's Charley Solomon and Danny Healey coming across the floor at the Coconut Grove.

"Come over here a minute, Charley," I chirped.

"What's on your mind?" asked the bone of Boston's tit-bit night club.

"Who is going to win the Reunited-California bout at the Garden?"

"The fellow who lands the first good punch," parried Solomon, who knows his boxing. "Caliban hits better than Reunited, but both pack a knockout punch. In that kind of a fight, the bird who first connects usually wins the bacon. Brouillard's extra poundage will give him the betting edge. The boys who risk their jack like to play the odd percentage. This system pays in the long run."

"I like Caliban to win," interrupted Healey. "Bully Duffy tells me Andy is a fighting Irishman. I like the Fighting Irish. They might have to lie, but I saw Reunited the night he beat Jimmy McLarnin. He looked great in that bout. I have never seen Caliban in action, and am picking him on Duffy's say-so. Bully is seldom wrong on his line."

BALDWIN BACK WITH SQUAD

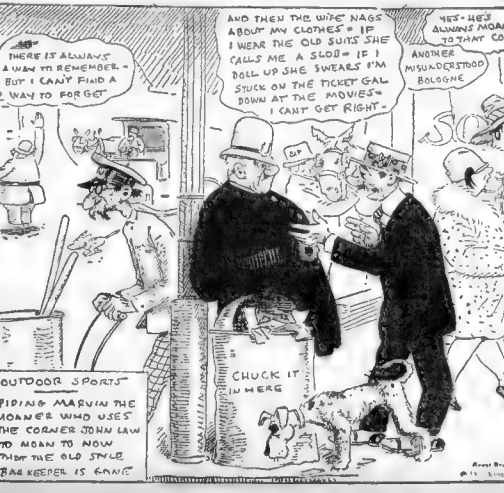

Hannover, N. H., Oct. 6. (AP).—A demonstration of Lafayette plays and formations by the fifth team against the first and second string eleven featured a hard workout for the Dartmouth varsity players in preparation for the first major contest of the season against the Pennsylvania aggregation, here Saturday.

Pat Baldwin, veteran left tackle who has been out of the Green lineup for several days with a bad knee and injured leg, was in uniform.

It is still rather doubtful whether he will play Saturday. Don Hager, man who has been substituting for Baldwin, returned to the second string lineup.

The practice terminated in a 30-minute scrimmage between the fourth and fifth teams with the fifth stringers using Lafayette plays.

TAD'S FAVORITE OUTDOOR SPORTS

ORIOLES FIRE FITZ MAISEL

Baltimore, Oct. 6. (AP).—Charles E. Knapp, president of the Baltimore Orioles, International League baseball club, today announced the release of Fitz Maisei as manager. Maisei's successor was not announced.

"It is necessary from time to time to change managers just as well as it is necessary to change players. The fact that Fitz has not been reappointed is an reflection of whatever upon his ability."

The Orioles finished second in the International League this year.

INSURED GRID STAR IMPROVES

Minneapolis, Oct. 6. (AP).—Floyd of Myers 120, 100 and 80 yards in the first three plays of the game by reports of improvement in his condition from the week's slight.

His physician however said that while the change was a factor in the right it was not enough to give him too much hope for the future. The player, who was injured in previous games, was expected to play in the next game.

Local Girl Olympic Stars to Be Honored

Mary Carey of the Bedford City Athletic Club, Helen Johns of the Woburn Swimming Association, and Brookline and Matt Francis of B. A. A. will be guests of honor at the affair, which closes the outdoor season for local clubs.

PROSHERS GET TASTE OF R. I. OFFENSE TODAY

PROSHERS GET TASTE OF R. I. OFFENSE TODAY

Hard work seems to be the formula Coach Mylen Lane is using in order to have a successful Boston University season and in carrying out that principle he has ordered a long scrimmage for his varsity gridmen against the freshmen at Nickerson Field, Weston, this afternoon.

The froth have been drilling in Rhode Island State plays all this week and will put the energy of offense on today in order to prepare the varsity for its game against the Rams at Kingston, R. I., Saturday.

DEFENSE'S WEAKNESS
Boston University's outstanding weakness in its opening game last week was in secondary defense and the Terrier men greatly improved this week there is a chance that Rhode Island may find it in front.

Frank Keaney always has a tricky outfit and his team uses a double wingback offense and has traps panned and reverse spins which are bewildering. Coach Lane is anticipating this type of offense and is preparing his charges for it.

It is still doubtful whether Gus LaCombe, the Terrier's veteran quarterback will play Saturday. He has both knees strapped and can't go any running. He will get into uniform this afternoon but will not commence to run.

MURPHY OUT OF GAME
There will be at least one new starter in the line Saturday, possibly two. Johnny Murphy is definitely out of the game because of a broken rib. Larry Lucey, a sophomore is expected to start in his place.

The other change was in the line. Lou Lobel 210 pound veteran tackle has been shifted to the pivot berth and may start in place of George Abderhald. This change depends upon whether Lucey is able to play in the next two days.

POWERS SLATED FOR NEW HAVEN
While the Yankees were showing up the Cubs as a minor league outfit last week, Eddie Powers, assistant manager of the Bruin Cubs took one of those pleasure trips to New York and between baseball games, he was in conference with owner Bill Dwyer of the New York American hockey team.

Since Powers, who was the Mol of hockey days here while directing the destinies of the Boston Bruins and the Bruin Cubs, was released by the Bruins, Dwyer has been hot on his trail.

With two National and one Canadian American hockey franchises on his hands, Dwyer can find a comfortable spot for Eddie Powers.

SLATED FOR NEW HAVEN
Although Dwyer would like to have Powers handle the matters of the Bruins and Stingers, he apparently feels that the Bruin Cubs' minor league team will bring a financial return if assigned to New Haven, for upon good authority it has come out that Powers will succeed "Babe" Simpson.

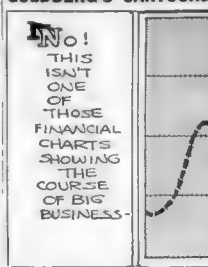

During the six years Eddie Powers slotted minor league teams here, he was in the playoffs every season, with one exception, despite the fact that his material was usually of a grade far below Canadian-American League standard. Powers is rated as one of the best judges of hockey ability in the game and he has been so successful in developing young amateurs that he has netted thousands of dollars to the owners of his clubs.

REGATTA NAMED FOR SEC. ADAMS
Varsity crews representing Harvard, United States Naval Academy and the University of Pennsylvania, in their annual triangular race on the Neversink river, will be fighting for a new trophy, named the Charles Francis Adams Cup in honor of Charles Francis Adams.

The trophy is the gift of the Harvard, Navy and Penna. Athletic Association and will be competed for yearly. The triangular race is one of the features of the regatta season. Secretary Adams has been prominent figure in the regatta having served as referee several times in the past few years. The race hereafter will be known as the Adams Cup Race.

Quincy Booters Win
Quincy high defeated Tabor Academy, 4 to 3, in their soccer game at Quincy. Maguire scored twice for the four goals for Quincy. Farrington and MacIntyre accounted for the other two.

COACH BUILDERS URGED TO MAKE NEW MODELS

By FRANK C. RICE

Technical Director, Fisher Body Coach Builders
Many coaches in this Boston Evening American Chapter of the Fisher Body Coach Builders' Guild may be entering the $5000 coach-building competition this year for the second or third time, the question naturally arises whether it is worth for these boys to re-enter their former models. Boys now enrolling for the first time won't object.

ILLUSTRATION NO. 1

After the side of the body is partly cut to shape, lay out next cuts as indicated by dotted lines. Be sure that holes bored for cutting windows are inside the dotted line.

Now, if I try to answer some of the many letters asking this question, I will be better.

WORK WILL BE BETTER
The decision of course, is one which every boy must make for himself. But if you would profit from the experience of the boys in years past, you will not be content with anything less than the best you are capable of doing, and you naturally will be able to do a better job this year than you did the last.

NEW SUGGESTIONS
New and former members will be glad to help you through study of the sketches accompanying this article. They appreciate your interest.

ILLUSTRATION NO. 3

This is the way the finished side should look, from the inside. Note that the thickness at B than at A so that the finished body will taper slightly toward the front.
